

During May 15 -17, 2008 not only photographers but also architects - photographers were invited to explore traffic of the city: transport, streets, bridges, road crossings as well as feelings of people there- while going by tram, sitting in traffic jam or walking down the street.

This is an old question whether everything is moving or standing still. And if moving, then what is it: the object, the observer, both or just our mind? And what does manifest movement in the city? Are they railways, „zebras“, trams and stations? On May 11-17, 2009 there was the exhibition in traffic stations.
